

EcoKarma Participation & Reward Policy

Purpose of the Platform

EcoKarma is a participation-based platform designed to recognise and reward environmental and community-focused activities. Rewards are intended as acknowledgements of participation and contribution within the EcoKarma ecosystem and do not constitute income, wages, or guaranteed financial returns.

Eligibility & Registration

Participation in EcoKarma requires registration and the creation of a user profile. Each individual is permitted to maintain only one account. EcoKarma reserves the right to suspend or terminate accounts that attempt to bypass participation limits or create multiple profiles.

Submission of Activities

Users may submit evidence of participation in eligible environmental or community activities. Submissions may require GPS location data, time and duration data, photographic or video evidence, and activity declarations or confirmations. Submitting false, misleading, or fabricated information is prohibited.

Validation & Review

EcoKarma uses a combination of automated systems and, where applicable, human or community review to assess submissions. Validation methods may include location and time verification, behavioural pattern analysis, comparison with other participants, and manual or delayed review. EcoKarma does not guarantee that every submission will be approved.

Reward Issuance

Rewards are issued gradually and are subject to daily, periodic, and lifetime limits. Rewards may be delayed, reduced, or withheld pending verification. EcoKarma reserves the right to adjust reward rates, modify validation requirements, suspend rewards for suspicious activity, or reverse rewards obtained through abuse or manipulation. All reward mechanisms are designed to promote fairness and long-term sustainability.

No Financial Guarantee

EcoKarma tokens or points represent participation within the platform. Any displayed currency values are indicative only and do not represent guaranteed monetary value. EcoKarma does not guarantee liquidity, exchangeability, or future value of rewards.

Anti-Abuse & Enforcement

EcoKarma actively monitors for abuse, including false submissions, location spoofing, reused or manipulated media, and coordinated or automated behaviour. Confirmed abuse may result in warnings, reduced rewards, suspension, or permanent account termination.

Platform Changes

EcoKarma reserves the right to update, modify, or discontinue features, reward structures, or validation methods at any time to protect platform integrity and long-term viability. Continued participation constitutes acceptance of these changes.

Limitation of Liability

EcoKarma is not responsible for losses, missed rewards, or perceived value changes resulting from validation decisions, platform updates, or policy enforcement. Participation is voluntary and undertaken at the user's discretion.

Closing Legal Statement

EcoKarma is designed to reward positive participation responsibly. The platform prioritises fairness, transparency, and sustainability over speed or speculation.